- Improve our services and neighbourhoods
- Make sure we treat people fairly, not all the same

We may ask for information such as:

We will never:

- Use this information to refuse services
- Use it to judge or stereotype you
- Make automated decisions about you without staff oversight

- Use it to treat you unfairly

Your information is collected to support you — not to penalise you.

Your privacy and your rights

Your personal information is protected by data protection law.

This means:

- Only trained staff who need the information can access it

- Your information is kept secure

Keeping in Touch Visits

The Housing Team is carrying out “Keeping in Touch” visits. These visits give staff the chance to meet you, see how you are getting on in your home, and understand if there is anything you need help with.

During the visit, we will:

- Check that our records about your household are correct
- Ask about any disabilities or health needs
- Confirm how you prefer us to contact you
- Find out if you need any support
- Discuss any concerns you may have about your home
- Give you the chance to share feedback about our services
- Ask if you feel safe in your home and local area

You will be told about the visit in writing beforehand.

The visit usually takes about one hour, as it includes a full check of your home and garden

If you require any further information about these visits please contact your Housing Management Officer.

ASB review update

After the Tenant Scrutiny Panel recently looked at how Anti-Social Behaviour (ASB) is handled, more work has been done to make sure tenants continue to have a say in improving the service.

A small group of tenants was asked to review the website, focusing on how easy it is to report ASB. Their feedback is helping us understand what makes reporting difficult and how we can make the process clearer and easier to use.

Tenants will also soon be invited to join a focus group to help review the ASB and Hate Crime

Tenants will also soon be invited to join a focus group to help review the RLB and Home Office Policy. There will be other policy reviews coming up as well, including a review of the Tenancy Agreement. These are all chances for tenants to help shape how services are delivered and what standards are expected in homes and neighbourhoods.

Tenants are encouraged to get involved. If you would like more information or want to take part, please get in touch.
