Great progress to revive town centre

Foreword by Mayor of Mansfield, Andy Abrahams

Welcome to the latest edition of MyMansfield which is full of positive news about the district.

These last months have seen areas of great progress and action in a number of different council services.

Most recently, I am proud to have seen the completion of a major council homes scheme on the Bellamy Road estate with 22 top quality, affordable rent, energy-efficient homes for tenants on our housing waiting list.

We are delighted about progress on an agreement that allows us to move forward with the demolition of the Walkden Street Car Park, which will then return to the landowner.

Meanwhile our flagship White Hart Street redevelopment moves closer to reality, helped by a welcome boost from our partners at East Midlands Combined Authority.

Our flagship Mansfield Connect scheme is also moving forward with a new design proposal.

In the town centre, we are progressing plans for a new-look Market Place plus refurbishment of shop fronts at the Old Town Hall along with the rear wall of the listed building where there will soon be a new mural inspired by winners of our poetry competition. Also on the culture front, our award-winning museum and art gallery has seen a rise in visitor numbers. Meanwhile, we're gearing up for another sell-out run of our annual family favourite at Mansfield Palace, this year's panto, Cinderella.

Here in Mansfield, we're lucky to have some of the best parks and open spaces in the county, and this year one of them, Berry Hill, benefited from a £3.2m investment with a bespoke new play area and outstanding new visitor centre.

Around the district, we have seen action to deter fly tipping and antisocial behaviour, a new approach to dealing with the issue of empty shops, made sure we support and help survivors of domestic abuse, and taken action to achieve the council's net zero ambitions to mitigate climate change with new solar panels on Warsop Health Hub. Finally, I'm pleased to say our celebrations to hail the festive season in the town centre are back this year with live music and plenty of family entertainment at ChristmasFest on 22 November. Save the date!

Detective work lands fly tipper with fine

A fly-tipper was caught thanks to shrewd detective work by the council's Community Safety Team after a member of the public told them about discarded waste in Warsop.

Community Protection Officers were able to identify the fly-tipper using a letter found in one of the bags and issued a fixed penalty notice the same day.

So far this year, the team has issued 21 fixed penalty notices to fly-tippers, and where we find evidence of who is doing it, we will take action, including court proceedings if necessary.

Get set for Christmas!

A very special Christmas celebration is coming to Mansfield town centre on 22 November!

Our West Gate

New design for civic hub

New plans for Mansfield Connect have been submitted for planning

The ambitious project will transform the former Beales and Co-op site into a modern, accessible building that brings together council services, learning opportunities, community support and enterprise under one roof. Designed to create a welcoming destination for residents, the new hub will make it easier for people to access services while encouraging more activity in the town centre.

Mansfield Connect is a key part of the council's wider regeneration programme and is expected to increase footfall, support local businesses and help attract further investment into the area. The project builds on significant improvements already made around Stockwell Gate, including the removal of the former pedestrian link bridges and other works completed earlier this year. These changes have helped open up the area and improve its appearance, creating a more attractive environment for residents and visitors.

A full demolition of the site will be carried out, subject to planning approval.

Mansfield District Council is bringing forward proposals for a major renovation of the town's historic Market Place to create a more attractive, flexible and welcoming town centre environment.

The plans include upgraded stone surfacing, improved lighting, new seating and street furniture, trees and rain gardens across the square. The project is being funded through the Government's Community Regeneration Partnership, and is expected to begin in the autumn, subject to planning approval. The historic Bentinck Monument would remain at the heart of the square, enhanced with new planting, lighting and seating. The monument's stonework is set to be repaired to make it safe for the public and restore its unique design. New drainage and railings will also be installed around the monument to protect it against the elements.

£2m project to revitalise Market Place

The Bentinck Monument is set to get new planting, lighting and seating.

Additional CCTV, including a new help point, will also be installed in the square to improve safety in the town centre. The new design includes space for market stalls while allowing greater flexibility for future events and community use.

Arts boost for major events

Mansfield has entered a fourth year as an Arts Council England sponsored National Portfolio Organisation with a grant of £618,063.

NPO funding has allowed Mansfield District Council to bring world class cultural experiences and events to a much wider audience.

The new funding allows us to deliver large-scale events including Mansfield Carnival and next year's Light Night festival.

Box Office ticket sales have grown from 95,893 in 2023 to 112,821 in 2025.

Targets for the year ahead include trying to improve on that figure and trying to reach a greater number of younger audiences.

It also enables vulnerable and disadvantaged people to participate in cultural activities, supports emerging artistic talent and provides opportunities for young people to build professional skills in the creative sector.

Homeless support extended

Mansfield District Council's Housing First project is offering more ways for rough sleepers to get off the streets with the launch of a dedicated new team, extending its homelessness support.

The new team is embedded within a repurposed block of flats that have been allocated to previously homeless people, enabling them to sustain their tenancies, engage with the community and get help to rebuild their lives.

Cllr Anne Callaghan, Portfolio Holder for Housing at Mansfield District Council, said: "We recognise the need to support rough sleepers and homeless people and re-house them for whatever issues they have. Our aim is not to hide rough sleepers or homelessness, but to support them going forward and make sure they can have a secure home long-term."

Neighbours help with Day

New accessible play areas for Mansfield

Six accessible play spaces are being created in to transform the future of play in the district.

Five play areas and a multi-use-games-area (MUGA) are to get support from the Government's Pride in Place Impact Fund to create accessible spaces that can be enjoyed by people of all abilities.

The parks included in the programme are: Pencil Park in Meden Vale; Ladybrook Park (MUGA) and Oak Tree estate open space in Mansfield; Manor Park and Peafield Park in Mansfield Woodhouse; The Carrs in Warsop.

The work will be informed by the results of a public consultation to find out what residents would like to see in their local park and what barriers currently exist in families being able to access play areas.

of Action on Mansfield estate

Residents joined with council officers for a Day of Action in Chadburn Road. Teams from the Neighbourhood Services, Community Safety, and Caretaking teams carried out estate inspections, gathered information regarding local concerns, and had a clean-up of the area.

Thank you to everyone who took the time to speak with us. It will help us plan more work to improve your community.

Nature lessons for youngsters

Pupils from Sherwood Junior School in Warsop were treated to a nature-themed day of learning with bug hunts, planting activities and a puppet show.

It was all thanks to a new education collaboration between Mansfield Palace Theatre and Mansfield Museum and Art Gallery, and Vibrant Warsop CIC. It was held at the school and at Vibrant Warsop community garden in Portland Street. The puppet show, with environmental messages, was by Wayward Objects of Welbeck.

Demolition of Walkden Street multi-storey approved

The demolition of Walkden Street car park has started following agreements between Mansfield District Council and the owner of the site.

The multi-storey car park suffered a partial collapse in August 2025 and was subsequently deemed unsafe.

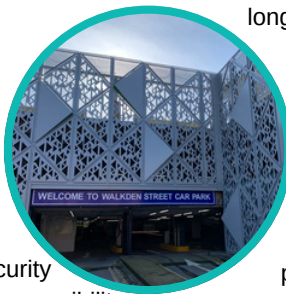

Since then, council officers have worked closely with the landowners, legal representatives and a range of partners to secure a solution that protects public finances, prioritises public safety and enables progress on the site. A contractor has been appointed and demolition works are expected to take 16 to 18 weeks to complete.

After the demolition of the car park, the council will remain responsible for the safety and security of the site for 12 months before responsibility for the site passes to the landowner. Throughout the process, the council has remained committed to supporting local businesses affected by the closure. Businesses on Stockwell Gate will remain open and accessible during the demolition, and officers will continue working closely with contractors and partners to minimise disruption. James Biddlestone, Chief Executive of Mansfield District Council, said: "Our priority has always been the safety of residents, visitors and businesses, while securing the best possible long-term outcome for the council and taxpayers.

"This agreement removes significant future liabilities for the council and enables demolition work to begin.

"I'd like to thank everyone involved in reaching this agreement, as well as local businesses and residents for their patience and understanding throughout what has been a complex process." Councillors agreed unanimously to borrow £7.5m to to surrender its lease. Exiting the lease ensures the council can make the site safe, without any long-term liabilities linked to maintaining or rebuilding the structure, and saves at least £16m in future lease payments.

Our priority has been the safety of residents, visitors and businesses, while securing the best possible long-term outcome for the council and taxpayers.

James Biddlestone, Mansfield District Council CEO

New powers to reduce empty shops

Mansfield District Council is taking action to help bring empty shops and commercial premises back into use, using new powers introduced and funded by central Government.

The High Street Rental Auction scheme gives councils the ability to step in when commercial properties have been vacant for a year or more and are not being actively marketed by their owners.

Through an auction process, premises can be leased to new tenants, helping to bring empty units back into use.

Mansfield is part of a national pilot programme and the scheme will apply within a designated area of the town centre including parts of Westgate and Market Place. The initiative is designed to support local traders looking to establish themselves in the town centre.

The scheme will form part of a wider council programme of regeneration and investment to improve footfall in the centre.

This includes improvements to the town centre, the £30m Mansfield Connect development, and a new 43-home redevelopment of White Hart Street.

Gold standard for domestic abuse support

Mansfield District Council has been awarded a gold accreditation from the UK's leading domestic abuse organisation for its commitment to supporting survivors and embedding best practices.

The council was awarded the nationally recognised standard by the Domestic Abuse Housing Alliance (DAHA), a network of more than 150 registered social landlords and local authorities. The council's Housing team submitted more than 400 pieces of evidence over three years to show how it supports people experiencing domestic abuse. The team had to undergo a rigorous live audit, submit multiple case reviews and be interviewed by DAHA. Interviews were also conducted with other MDC teams and partners. The authority was first awarded DAHA accreditation in 2023 which was valid for three years. Since then, it has worked towards the gold standard. Jill Finnesey, the council's Assistant Director of Housing, said: “Listening to survivors and using their voices to shape our services is central to everything we do.

Assistant Director of Housing

The council's proactive approach to supporting people who have experienced domestic abuse, and training staff to spot the signs, enables us to help do the right thing for survivors.

“Achieving DAHA Gold is not the end of our journey. We are committed to improving to sustain this high standard of support for our communities.”

More information on domestic abuse support is available on the council website at www.mansfield.gov.uk/abuse.

Closure order on council house

Mansfield District Council has successfully secured a full closure order for a property linked to criminal activity and persistent anti-social behaviour. The house on Chadburn Road was shut down by the council and police after evidence showed ongoing nuisance, disorder and criminal activity at the property, which was having a significant negative impact on the community. The Closure Order prohibits access to the property and allows enforcement agencies to take further action against those responsible for the issues.

This case follows two other successful closure orders earlier this year after Mansfield District Council used new powers to repossess properties linked to anti-social behaviour and criminal activity.

£7m council homes scheme completed

A £7.7 million development of 22 new council houses in Mansfield is complete with the final tenants lined up to move into their spacious energy efficient homes. Mercer Building Solutions, who built the new homes, handed over the Bellamy estate site to Mansfield District Council in September.

The new homes are being let at affordable rents – classed as 80% of market rents – and have been built with high spec insulation, solar panels and air source heat pumps, making them some of the most energy efficient new-builds in the UK. Designed by the council's own architects, the houses have been designed with modern living in mind with lots of storage space and electrical sockets. Outside, there are generous gardens and electric vehicle charging points.

The homes have also been future-proofed, to allow for adaptations such as downstairs wet rooms for those that need them in later life. The development includes 20 two, three and four-bedroom semi-detached houses, and two two-bedroom detached houses. The first tenants moved in last year and currently nine of the homes have families living in them. The remaining 13 have been allocated with tenants set to move in. The regenerated centre of the estate, which dates back to the late 1960s, also has a new parade of shops, new children's play areas and a learn-to-cycle track and a through-road to improve public transport links.

The development brought millions of pounds worth of trade to local supply chains and 88% of people employed on the project lived within 20 miles of Mansfield.

£1m boost for council homes scheme

Mansfield District Council has welcomed a £1m grant to help transform a long-derelict part of the town centre.

Mayors Claire Ward and Andy Abrahams visiting the site of White Hart Street

The funding from East Midlands Combined County Authority and its Mayor, Claire Ward, will support the council's flagship White Hart Street development and enable vital preparation work on the site. The £16.5m development aims to deliver 43 high-quality, affordable homes, including family properties and apartments, while revitalising historic buildings and reconnecting the area with the wider town centre. The scheme will transform a site that has stood underused for more than a decade. Phase one of the scheme is expected to be completed by 2028. Sustainability is a core principle of the project, with environmentally friendly materials and green technologies supporting the council's ambition to be net zero by 2040.

The scheme will also deliver local job opportunities, support apprenticeships and strengthen local supply chains.

The development will reflect Mansfield's rich architectural and social heritage, reintroducing historic pedestrian routes, creating new public spaces and incorporating restored heritage buildings for community and commercial use.

Central to the scheme is a new community hub and landscaped areas designed to encourage social connection, wellbeing and pride of place.

Beggar banned in town centre

A beggar who pretended to be homeless has been banned from Mansfield town centre and retail parks. Mansfield District Council was granted an anti-social behaviour injunction against Peter Oxley, of Birkland Street, Mansfield. It bans him until 1 September 2028 from the town centre, Mansfield Leisure Park and St Peter's Retail Park, bans him from falsely claiming to be homeless, and from begging and harassing members of the public.

The council took action after complaints that Mr Oxley was persistently begging and being abusive when asked to move on by shop staff, police and council officers. He was offered support by the council but declined to take up the offers.

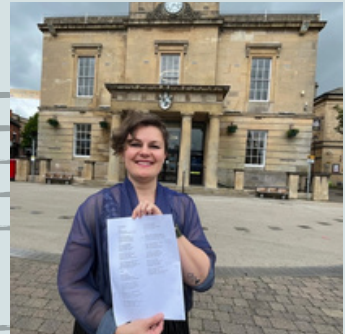

Mr Oxley, who did not attend the court hearing, was ordered to pay more than £1,100 in costs.

Writing on Wall poetry winners

Winner Stephanie Bognar

Three talented local poets received prizes after being named as the winners of 'The Writing on the Wall' poetry competition in Mansfield.

They received prizes and copies of a printed anthology of 15 shortlisted entries at a ceremony at Mansfield Museum and Art Gallery. First prize went to Stephanie Bognar, Mansfield born and bred, with her poem Stop and See.

Runner-up was Lisa Brown with her poem Kindness, and third was Laura Leedham, and her poem Stones that Hold our Stories.

The competition, part of Mansfield District Council's Townscape Heritage Project, invited local people to submit poems inspired by the words from the town's Memorial Garden including community, hope, kindness, courage, strength and respect. It drew over 60 entries.

Heritage skills at Four Seasons

Visitors to Mansfield had a chance to step back in time at a Heritage Skills Fair at Four Seasons Shopping Centre.

A historic crafts fair of rare skills, including bow making and the art of historic wallpaper restoration. The project, part of the Mansfield Townscape Heritage Project and backed by The National Lottery, has funded architectural improvements to properties in the town centre since 2018 and enabled community initiatives to encourage public interest in the town's history.

Museum visitors up by 26%

Visitor growth at Mansfield Museum and Art Gallery has been outperforming national trends.

The Leeming Street venue had over 52,000 visitors in the last year - up 26.5% compared to pre-pandemic levels (2018/19), placing the museum ahead of national recovery trends.

And latest figures show there was a three per cent rise in visitors over the summer holidays compared to last year.

Across the UK, many museum's visitor numbers continue to lag behind pre-pandemic levels so Mansfield's growth represents a standout success story.

The figures reflect investment in exhibitions, events and community engagement, supported by Mansfield District Council's status as an Arts Council England National Portfolio Organisation.

Football: The Beautiful Game* was a popular exhibition in 2024

Over the past year, it has delivered a vibrant and varied programme ranging from popular talks on the history of Mansfield Town FC, 'Dogs in Museums' film screenings, and the acclaimed World of Birds exhibition.

Curriculum-linked learning opportunities drove an increase in visits by schools and community groups by over 56%.

Have your say on development in Mansfield

People are being invited to comment on the latest Publication Draft of the Mansfield Local Plan review, which will guide how the district grows and develops up to 2043.

The document sets out a positive vision for Mansfield as a healthier, greener and more vibrant place and will guide where new homes are built, where businesses can grow, what infrastructure is required and how the district's natural and historic environment will be protected.

The plan provides for at least 9,900 new homes across Mansfield and Warsop between 2023 and 2043, including affordable housing, homes for older people and opportunities for people who want to build their own home. It also places sustainability at the heart of future growth.

You can have your say on it until 10 November. Printed copies are available at Mansfield Civic Centre and libraries across the district or you can comment online. Scan the QR code.

Berry Hill Park in £3.2m

One of Mansfield's best-loved parks has been transformed following a £3.2m investment in new facilities.

One of the key improvements is a bespoke adventure playground along with a new café.

The improvements have been funded by £3.2m from the government's Local Regeneration Fund allocation, with additional funding from Mansfield District Council.

Greenwood Community Forest also supported the upgrade with the planting of more than 3,000 hedging plants and trees. The new café and picnic area gives residents and visitors more places to play, explore and relax, while respecting the park's long-standing heritage.

Solar panels for

New solar panels have been installed on the roof of Warsop Health Hub to improve the leisure centre's energy efficiency and reduce its carbon footprint.

The £9.2m hub opened in 2024 and its design included 24 solar panels on the roof. With the additional 248 panels, the amount of electricity they generate will be transformation!

Other improvements include:

- Improvements to the lake and wetland areas
- New accessible footpaths
- New signs and interpretation boards
- Low-level lighting installed to improve safety while reducing light pollution and impacts on wildlife

The project is part of the council's wider regeneration strategy to make the district more attractive to inward investment, creating jobs, prosperity and opportunities to live happier, healthier lives by helping to make better use of public spaces.

Mansfield District Council took over responsibility for Berry Hill Park from the Coal Industry Social Welfare Organisation (CISWO) in 2019 when the park was threatened with closure.

New adventure play area and visitor centre for leisure centre

be increased from 9,612kWh to an estimated 114,952kWh a year, supporting the council's ambition to be net-zero on carbon emissions by 2040.

Sport England put £88,500 towards the extra solar panels, with the remaining £10,000 coming from the council.

The energy savings are expected to pay back the cost of the installation within four years.

Friday 25 December - recycling collection moved to Saturday 19 December

28 to 31 December - normal general waste collections

Bin collection dates

Check your collection days online by searching with your postcode. Or, visit, www.mansfield.gov.uk/bindays

Don't forget to number your bins to ensure that they won't be mixed up with your neighbour's. Never worry about your wheelie bin taking a stroll along the road.

Trade waste

This service is for businesses including shops, offices, industrial units and large factories. For more info visit: www.mansfield.gov.uk/tradewaste.

Festive recycling guide

The festive season generates 30% more waste than any other time of the year. Follow our guide to learn what Christmas waste you can or cannot recycle.

Packaging

Many Christmas gifts will be delivered in recyclable packaging. Make sure you flatten cardboard and put it in your recycling bin to keep it dry. Other packaging such as bubble wrap and polystyrene must go in your general waste bin along with any Christmas cards with glitter and/or foil.

The scrunch test is a helpful way to test whether wrapping paper is recyclable. Scrunch the paper in your hand and if it stays in a ball, it can be put into the recycling bin. Try to remove any sticky tape, ribbons and other adornments because they cannot be recycled.

Christmas trees

Trees can all be recycled at the county's recycling centres.

Batteries

Batteries should never be placed in your waste bins. When crushed by council waste collection lorries, they can start fires. Recycle them at proper battery recycling points.

Too much turkey?

Christmas dinner stays fresh for at least a few days after the big event and for months or more if you put it in the freezer. And you can always freeze cooked turkey and use it later to make a new meal if you're sick of turkey and cranberry sandwiches.

Don't bin festive fairy lights

Fairy lights and other electronic decorations should be disposed of at recycling centres and not in your general waste.

Panto role dream come true

A childhood wish is coming true at Mansfield Palace Theatre this Christmas, when Niamh Hendron plays the Fairy Godmother in this year's panto, Cinderella. For Niamh, the role brings her own pantomime story full circle from watching Cinderella in Leeds when she was just five and inspiring a dream of pursuing a career on stage. Last year she got a moment in the spotlight in Mansfield's Snow White & the Seven Dwarfs, as understudy to Katrina Bryan who was taken ill. Niamh rose to the challenge and now returns to Mansfield for another panto season - this time armed with a wand and a certain pair of glass slippers.
